

Snow-filled fun in Collingwood

JOANNE RICHARD
Special to the Sun

Get outside — it's good for your health. If that's not enough, it's good for other people's health.

Join in the Tubbs Romp to Stomp snowshoe series in Collingwood on Feb. 8 and help stomp out breast cancer.

No experience necessary — whether a seasoned athlete, a weekend warrior or just looking to give back, strap on a pair of snowshoes and enjoy some snow-filled fun in the 3km or 5km walk, or the 3km race at Scenic Caves.

Hit the trails with Tubbs Snowshoes and the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation (CBCF). Everyone is welcome — no matter your fitness level, says David Blasak, of Tubbs Snowshoes. "We are honoured to be one of the only events of this kind in Canada to bring fun to one of the coldest months of the year, while still supporting an incredible and heart-warming cause."

Since 2008, the Tubbs Romp to Stomp Snowshoe

Series has raised more than $200,000 for the CBCF.

The Tubbs Romp to Stomp also includes a Lil Romper Dash for the little ones and their families. Tubbs will provide demo snowshoes for use in the event.

So break out your best pink winter gear and make memories, enjoy the fresh air, and possibly win some great prizes.

Check out tubbsromptostomp.com for more information on the festivities.